Wednesday 3 January 2018

TrustBuilder Corporation N.V. (www.trustbuilder.com), formerly SecurIT B.V.B.A., is a software product company based in Ghent, Belgium, active in the Identity and Access Management niche. TrustBuilder plays a key role in the security infrastructure at some of the largest institutions across the world, authenticating nearly 40 million users. Clients include a.o. ING, DTCC, Telefonica O2 and SD Worx.

Its core solution, TrustBuilder®, is a powerful Identity Hub, providing brokerage between modern cloud and legacy architectures whereby authentication and authorization decisions are based on policies and info obtained at runtime, not static access controls. It is capable of selecting the appropriate identity provider, based on various parameters, such as: service provider requirements, user and device information and most importantly contextual information and risk analysis.

Marc Vanmaele, CEO: “With this funding round by Vectis Private Equity we can kickstart the further commercialization of our TrustBuilder software across Europe. Identity and Access Management is a key attention area of CIOs across the world given the proliferation of cloud software, remote user access, privacy initiatives of governments and a continuing focus on cyber security”.

Together with the funding round by Vectis Private Equity, industry expert Jan Valcke joins the board of directors bringing a 25 year experience from VASCO: “I’m excited to help build on the 20-year experience of the TrustBuilder team and convinced that TrustBuilder Identity Hub is a leading IAM software solution, ensuring that only trusted employees, partners, and customers can access the right applications using trusted devices”.

For the Business Development role, Jan de Waard will join the TrustBuilder team. Jan was recently active in the same role at Cognitive Security, a Prague-based computer science firm, acquired by Cisco.
